

VRINGO ANNOUNCES UPDATE ON ZTE LITIGATION

November 12, 2013

MANNHEIM, GERMANY - November 12, 2013 - Vringo, Inc. (NASDAQ: VRNG) today announced that the infringement hearing for European Patent 1,186,119, which Vringo's wholly-owned subsidiary, Vringo Germany GmbH, has asserted against ZTE Corporation and its German subsidiary ZTE Deutschland GmbH, has concluded. The Court stated that it would render its decision on December 17, 2013 at 9:00 a.m. German local time. The asserted patent is related to 3G infrastructure equipment.

Background on Vringo v. ZTE Litigation

Vringo, through its wholly-owned subsidiaries, has filed seven patent infringement cases against ZTE Corporation and its subsidiaries in four countries, and a preliminary inquiry in Spain. The asserted patents relate to wireless infrastructure and handsets, and span seven distinct patent families.

- In the United Kingdom, Vringo Infrastructure filed two cases and asserted three patents in each case related to both infrastructure equipment and handsets. The first trial is expected in the second half of 2014.
- In Germany, Vringo Germany GmbH asserted two patents related to infrastructure equipment. The infringement hearing for EP 1,186,119 is the subject of this press release. The infringement hearing for EP 1,212,919 relating to the infringement of ZTE 3G and 4G LTE infrastructure equipment is scheduled for the first half of 2014.
- In France, Vringo Infrastructure asserted two patents related to infrastructure equipment. A scheduling hearing was held on June 25, 2013 and a trial date is forthcoming.
- In Australia, Vringo Infrastructure asserted two patents related to infrastructure equipment, handsets and tablets.
- In Spain, the Court notified the parties of its Ruling granting the application filed by Vringo to perform preliminary inquiries (discovery) against ZTE in Spain on the basis of the likely infringement of the Spanish part of European Patent 1,186,119. ZTE is required to deliver to Vringo discovery materials related to ZXSDR Base Stations, which Vringo alleges were introduced and distributed in Spain during the last five years.

On May 15, 2013, Vringo Infrastructure provided ZTE with a term sheet providing for the terms under which it would license its standard essential patents. The term sheet can be found here: <http://bit.ly/1c2ZqHH>.

On July 3, 2013, Vringo Infrastructure learned that the Patent Reexamination Board of the Patent Office of the People's Republic of China upheld the validity of one of its patents that ZTE sought to invalidate through re-examination.
