

VRINGO PROVIDES UPDATE ON UK LITIGATION

December 22, 2014

NEW YORK - December 22, 2014 - Vringo, Inc. (NASDAQ: VRNG), a company engaged in the innovation, development and monetization of intellectual property, today announced that the High Court of Justice, Chancery Division, Patents Court in the United Kingdom ordered ZTE to make an interim payment on account of Vringo's legal costs incurred with respect to the UK part of Vringo's European Patent 1,212,919 (the "'919 Patent'"), previously found to be infringed by ZTE and valid as amended. The Court ordered ZTE to pay Vringo £600,000 (approximately $938,000) after taking into account a balancing payment to ZTE with respect to Vringo's withdrawal of another patent from litigation, by January 12, 2015. ZTE's obligation to pay for Vringo's remaining costs with respect to the '919 Patent will be assessed by a separate process, unless agreed, to be conducted next year.

Forward-Looking Statements

This press release includes forward-looking statements, which may be identified by words such as "believes," "expects," "anticipates," "estimates," "projects," "intends," "should," "seeks," "future," "continue," or the negative of such terms, or other comparable terminology. Forward-looking statements are statements that are not historical facts. Such forward-looking statements are subject to risks and uncertainties, which could cause actual results to differ materially from the forward-looking statements contained herein. Factors that could cause actual results to differ materially include, but are not limited to: our inability to license and monetize our patents, including the outcome of the litigation against online search firms and other companies; our inability to monetize and recoup our investment with respect to patent assets that we acquire; our inability to develop and introduce new products and/or develop new intellectual property; new legislation, regulations or court rulings related to enforcing patents, that could harm our business and operating results; unexpected trends in the mobile phone and telecom infrastructure industries; our inability to raise additional capital to fund our combined operations and business plan; our inability to maintain the listing of our securities on a major securities exchange; the potential lack of market acceptance of our products; potential competition from other providers and products; our inability to retain key members of our management team; the future success of Infomedia and our ability to receive value from its stock; and other risks and uncertainties and other factors discussed from time to time in our filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC"), including our annual report on Form 10-K filed with the SEC on March 10, 2014. Vringo expressly disclaims any obligation to publicly update any forward-looking statements contained herein, whether as a result of new information, future events or otherwise, except as required by law.
