FLI Charge Will Expand Charging and Power Ecosystem Within the Automotive Industry with Papp Plastics as Official Auto Supplier

NEW YORK, NY - September 13, 2016 - FLI Charge, a technology company that offers the fastest and most powerful charging solution for virtually all mobile devices including smartphones and tablets, today announced its official partnership with Papp Plastics & Distributing Ltd., a tier-1 and tier-2 auto supplier. Papp Plastics currently manufactures an assortment of plastic products production parts and OEM accessories to most of the major OEMs in North America.

The collaboration with Papp Plastics is just one example of FLI Charge's efforts to expand the FLI Charge ecosystem, delivering easier access to power and charging to major markets. As part of the partnership, Papp Plastics will incorporate FLI Charge's technology into various locations in vehicles, and into other auto accessories. With over 25 years of experience, Papp Plastics is acknowledged as a leader in plastic molding manufacturing. FLI Charge and Papp Plastics anticipate providing a wide array of demos at the SEMA Show this November.

"FLI Charge's technology is unlike any we've seen. Its ability to provide power at much higher levels, combined with its relatively low cost has already ignited interest with the auto makers. It is crucial for us that our clients have access to the latest in technology, especially as it relates to in-car charging, which is a constant need in the automotive space. Now, people will have the ability to charge multiple devices on one charging surface regardless of their positioning," said Michael Papp, President of Papp Plastics & Distributing Ltd.

"Automotive is one of the most important target markets for our company," said Cliff Weinstein, President of FLI Charge, "The partnership we are announcing today will make FLI Charge's technology available to Papp's client list, which consists of nearly every auto manufacturer in the world, at the OEM level, and will play a significant role in growing the FLI Charge ecosystem. Papp's expertise in developing interior consoles, plastics and molding, makes the potential to develop new products with their team an exciting opportunity," Mr. Weinstein concluded.
